Democrats Planning in May to Regain Control of Township Hall in November

Democrats in the Township talked this week in a philosophical, almost low-key manner about what they hope for if they once again become the majority party on Township Committee.

This year, as in most years, the mayoralty is at stake in the Township. A "mayor" is never elected as such, but is simply the senior member of the majority party.

Election of Democratic incumbent David Blair to his second term along with his running-mate David Long, would unseat incumbent Republican mayor Josie Hall and her running-mate, George Adriance.

Neither party has a contest in next Tuesday's primaries, but Democrats said they wanted to get their views into the open so that Democrats would vote anyway for the two Township candidates as a gesture of support, and learn a long time ahead of November what the Democrats are thinking.

"It's more a matter of style of government," Mr. Blair explained. "Democrats have an open, welcoming style for all segments of the community. It's important to push more vigorously in Township Hall for what you want. Some citizens are still intimidated by going before a governing body. People here are articulate, knowledgeable, and if you're reticent, this takes some nerve."

"But we want more people coming to Township Hall — we'd like to invite their complaints."

Mr. Long, who is 29, has lived in Princeton three years. An economist, he holds a master's in public policy and is a research associate with Mathematica Policy Research.

Democrats see him as representing a new segment of the community — the young professional. Jay Bleiman, who was Democratic mayor before the Republicans became the majority party, says he himself won his first election to Committee when he had lived in the Township only "two years and three months."

"There is a stridency now on Township Committee," the former mayor said, "and the tone is clearly set by the leadership. We want to restore an openness."

Mr. Long said he regarded it as "bizarre," in the recent decision about a Snowden Lane culvert, "to consider solely one government and not the whole town."

The Borough - Township line on Snowden Lane meant that culvert considerations had to be discussed by both municipal governments.

"Borough - Township relations have become more strained," Mr. Bleiman observed. "The climate of 'listening' just isn't there, and we believe it will take the election of both Blair and Long to turn that around."

The issue of Township growth is a looming one, Mr. Blair warned.

"If we block the door, nail it shut to growth, we'll wind up with growth imposed on us," he said, "there's a lot of land here, and we must try to manage growth along lines that are protective and

Various Formulas Studied for Determining Number Of Low-Cost Housing Units Required for Princeton

How many low-and-moderate income housing units should Princeton have as its "fair share" of a state total?

It's a numbers game you can make come out almost any way you wish, and many have:

This week, the Department of Community Affairs said Princeton's total by the year 1990, should be 1,902: 272 for the Borough, 1,630 for the Township.

That's twice as many as the 800 suggested by the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission, which revised downward its own earlier figure of 2,877.

It's slightly higher than the figure of 1,168 which came from Mercer County.

And at one time, the Princeton Regional Planning Board said "34 percent" because that's the percentage of low-and-moderate income people living in Princeton at the time of the 1970 census.

Princeton's full-time professional planner, Carleton Ryffel, will tell the Princeton Regional Planning Board at meetings this week that 461 additional units is a perfectly acceptable figure.

"The DVRPC told us 800," Mr. Ryffel says, "but you must subtract from that the 339 units representing Princeton Community Village and the new Redding Circle project on Mt. Lucas. That gives you 461."

"I think the courts would accept 461 units, if Princeton provided an opportunity for them to be built."

Mr. Ryffel doesn't know whether the Department of Community Affairs subtracted those 339 units to get its 1,902 figure.

The DVRPC has already calculated 4,488 new housing units for Princeton between 1970 and 2000. (Under existing zoning laws, Mr. Ryffel has figured, a maximum of 2,300 units could be built.)

"This doesn't mean we've got to have 50-foot lots," the planner explains, "it may mean we need more height."

Of the 4,488 units, the DVRPC says 18 percent would be "fair share"—that's the 800 mentioned above; 43 percent would be middle-income and 39 percent would be upper-income. The DVRPC admits the 4,488 units is high, and the problem is that nobody really knows what's going to happen to the size of households.

Right now, the size of households is going down and planners like Mr. Ryffel expect it to, until 2000. More single people are buying houses. Fewer couples are having children. But because more singles are buying houses, for example, the actual number of dwelling units could increase.

Also, two years ago, people were talking about a population for Princeton of 40,000 by the year 2000. Today, the DVRPC is saying, well, it's probably going to be only 30,000 including students and Mr. Ryffel agrees with this figure.

Today's population is 27,000, including students.

The concept of "fair share" was enunciated by the New Jersey Supreme Court in the Mount Laurel decision. The court ruled, in that case, that municipalities had to provide their "fair share" of housing for people earning low or moderate incomes, and not exclude them by zoning in large, expensive lots.

The court didn't define "fair share." For Princeton, "region" has been defined by the DVRPC as Mercer County. (The DVRPC has been given the responsibility by the Federal government for determining future population for the area. Suggesting "fair share" is part of that responsibility.)

So how should a community define "fair share," assuming it wants to make its own calculations and not lean on the state, county or DVRPC?

Mr. Ryffel has prepared for the Planning Board seven different methods of calculating "fair share"—and each gives a different answer.

FOUNTAINS, FLOWERS: If you think of a municipal building as only a place to pay taxes or a parking fine, walk behind Borough Hall on a spring day. White azalees and dogwood are now in bloom, the fountains have been turned on, there's a bench to sit on and trash bags to receive your lunch scraps. The only admonition: watch children. There is electric wiring throughout the pool.

equitable. We musn't force out people who were born here, and can afford to live here only marginally. It's not easy to achieve."

Consolidation is another issue, Mr. Long said.

"The problem is the growth of the town as a whole," he commented, "and in the absence of consolidation, we need co-operation. But consolidation makes a lot of sense: providing services efficiently, serving people best, working on policies that cross Borough - Township lines."

Turning to an immediate issue, Mr. Blair remarked that the Township "does have a legitimate stake in the Library, but Township people are at least as concerned about the fate of the Central Business District, in the Borough."

"It's good to acquire open space," Mr. Blair commented. "How else can we preserve it?"

Justification Offered. Acquiring open space removes that land from the tax rolls, he conceded, but then he added, "If you decide it's worth it as a style of living, you can afford taking it off the tax rolls."

Mr. Blair said he thought it was "an opportunity missed" not to have named a citizens committee to study rateables, following the suggestion of the 1977 Democratic candidate David Klein, who had invited his Republican opponent Tom Haber -- both had been defeated -- to join him in sponsoring such a committee.

Mr. Haber was not unwilling, but Committee in-

Mercer Bridge Closed

Historical Mercer Road Bridge with its twisting approaches, the scene of many accidents over the years, has been permanently closed to traffic.

Township Traffic Officer Sgt. Anthony Nini said this week the bridge is in such bad shape that there is doubt whether it will ever carry cars again.

Temporary barricades were erected Friday to allow repairmen to fix a large hole in the surface. It was believed then that about two weeks would be needed to repair the bridge.

But when they got into it, Sgt. Nini reported, it was more serious than first believed, and Mercer County Engineer Donald Harney ordered it permanently closed.

terested in whether the local zoning ordinance makes it possible to put those houses into the ground."

How will it be possible to "put those houses into the ground," the 461 that may or may not be adopted by the Planning Board as Princeton's "fairshare."

"Subsidy isn't the only way, and citizens shouldn't be burdened with the cost," Mr. Ryffel says, "a zoning ordinance providing smaller lots, or a bonus allowing a developer to build more densely if he allots a certain number of units to lower or moderate income townhouses; a more responsive cluster ordinance."

"You could, of course, put all this into a master plan, but that would be lip-service only and the courts would throw it out."

He hopes most of Princeton's new master plan will be completed and a new zoning ordinance in the hopper by February--nine months away.

"We are very, very close to a decision by the housing committee (of the Planning Board)," he says. "We're very close to adopting a fair share number."

After the housing committee has decided on a method, it will be explained to the whole Planning Board -- why it was chosen, what it means in terms of houses.

The board's land-use committee has been looking at possible sites for higher-density housing. To do its job, Mr. Ryffel explains, the land-use committee must have the number of units needed. It will then choose the best sites for high densities.

So, from a plethora of numbers showing Princeton's "fair share," the community may make its own determination.

"The board asked me to look into various methodologies," Mr. Ryffel says, "not just to take whatever the state says. If you feel yours is the most reasonable, you can go ahead."

He looked at the problem from several perspectives, he says, examining both existing and future housing requirements, and considering them from Princeton's perspective and that of the region. He also took into account the most realistic estimates of population growth.

Constitution Hill Developers Eliminate Plans For Flats and Will Reduce Units from 70 to 60

No flats will be built on Constitution Hill after all. A compromise between developer and opponents, achieved in final form around 10:30 last Wednesday night during a Township Zoning Board hearing, will change the controversial development as follows:

- The number of dwelling units will be reduced from 70 to 60.
- There will be no "flats," or rental units, incorporated into any of the houses. The basic design will not change, but the former "flat" will be a condominium unit, to be purchased like all the rest, and occupied by an owner.
- Access roads from Elm Lane and Rosedale will be cul de sac, to eliminate the possibility of through traffic. (An emergency-vehicle passage, consisting of a stabilized gravel base under a layer of grass and topsoil, will be provided.)
- Swimming pool and tennis courts will be moved "elsewhere", farther from neighbors.
- There will be more setbacks and screenings.

Delay to be Avoided. "Our opponents had threatened court action," was the flat comment of A. Perry Morgan, whose family owns Constitution Hill. "Our compromise is not an acknowledgement that we had too much density before.

At the 11th Hour. "The actual compromise still hadn't been reached until that Wednesday afternoon," Mr. Morgan explained later. "Neighbors were still discussing it, and had to present it to me."

By the time of the Zoning Board hearing—the second in what had been planned as a series—principals knew about the compromise, but Collins Development Corporation, developers of Constitution Hill, wanted their traffic witness, Henry J. Ney, to present his testimony.

When he had finished, Collins' attorney, Thomas C. Jamieson, asked the board for a recess. He, Mr. Morgan and Mr. Collins conferred. Then Mr. Jamieson and Mr. Berman conferred. Then the two lawyers asked Zoning Board attorney Ivan C. Bash to join them.

After about half an hour, Mr. Jamieson announced to board and audience that "five or ten minutes ago," a consensus had been reached on modifying the plans.

More Hearings Due. This doesn't mean the matter is settled. The Zoning Board still must hear variance requests relating to conversion of the mansion into apartments. And, although the "flat" concept has been eliminated, the rooms once called "flats" remain in the plans, and the Township does not allow two-family houses without a variance.

So Constitution Hill will be on the agenda for the regular June 28 meeting of the Township Zoning Board.

For weeks and months over fall and winter Township Committee labored to clarify and amend its "flat" ordinance in light of Constitution Hill's plans. The ordinance as finally amended, prohibits flats in new developments—but allows them, through a date cut-off device, in Constitution Hill.

Neighbors couldn't recognize that "true" densities of traffic and people would be the same as the present law allows. We simply didn't want the project delayed."

Discussions with attorney Ronald Berman, who represents 18 neighbors opposed to Mr. Morgan's project, have been going on for the past month, Mr. Morgan said.

"We reassured them on some points, but for some reason, neighbors were worried about flats. Personally, I see a negligible difference between the kind of person who rents and the kind who buys, but it seemed to be a concern."

"Losing the ten dwelling units, of course, will make the rest more expensive," he added.

The revised plans do not touch the eight apartments proposed for the old mansion house that is the heart of Constitution Hill.

Both Parties Have Senatorial Races In Primary Elections Next Tuesday

No primary contests mar the June 6 Primary Day sky for either Democrats or Republicans in either Borough or Township.

On the Republican ballot, Sen. Clifford Case is opposed by a conservative, Jeffrey Bell. Sen. Case is expected to win easily as he begins his campaign for a fifth term.

More hotly contested has been the Democratic Senatorial primary involving the three-way contest among Richard C. Leone of Princeton, Bill Bradley and Alexander J. Menza.

A quixotic off-shoot of that contest pits a team of two Princeton Democrats--Michael J. Coda and Betty Sapoch--against Regular Democratic Organization candidates John S. Watson and Frederick J. Gmitter Jr., for the Freeholder nomination. Jack Conover and Charles R. Moore Jr. are also jockeying for the privilege of being the two Democratic candidates for Mercer County Freeholder in November.

Coda and Sapoch agreed to run at Bill Bradley's request.

Under an interpretation of Title 19 of the state's election law, Bradley was told he could not participate in the drawing for position on the primary ballot unless he fielded a full slate of candidates. He asked Mike Coda, member of the class of 1973 at Princeton who is in charge of field operations for the Bradley campaign, and Betty Sapoch, a Bradley campaign worker, if they would be Freeholder candidates and they agreed.

Meanwhile, Bradley took his case to court and won. In the subsequent drawing for position on the ballot, he ended up in the same column two spot he would have had in any case, but in the matter of principle, the Bradley camp feels that a victory was won.

The Coda-Sapoch team isn't campaigning, except for Bradley. Bumper stickers, "Betty Sapoch for Freeholder," more or less tongue-in-cheek, were run off by the candidate's husband. There are only four or five and they are bio-degradable: if it rains Primary Day, they dissolve.

DRAINAGE ON AGENDA

In Planning Board Cases. The agenda for the next regular Planning Board meeting involves probable conclusion of cases that have been before the board many times, as developers try to comply with the Township's present drainage requirements.

Because the Planning Board's regular meeting day is primary election day, the meeting has been set for Monday. It will be held at 8 p.m. in the Valley Road School building.

Benedict Yedlin's proposed five-house development on Herrontown Road across from Princeton House has been the subject of heated discussions on drainage at previous meetings. Mr. Yedlin's attorney, Thomas C. Jamieson, told the board last month that the developer could not wait for final passage of the Township's revised drainage requirements and would comply with the present ordinance. The case is expected to be concluded Monday.

Dry Skies Unlikely

"Going back to Nassau Hall" Should mean we have No rain at all.

It should--but the Man says it's a dream not to be counted on. In fact, he reports, the trend toward higher temperatures that began Tuesday, and an accompanying increase in more humidity, will make afternoon showers virtually a daily possibility right into the weekend.

May is bowing out debited with two unwelcome marks against it: mean temperature below normal and near-record rainfall--not far from triple the average amount of around three inches.

June won't be as wet, but the forecast through the first half of the month calls for above-average precipitation. There'll be some with annoying consistency between now and Sunday.

Proposals of Nassau Capital Associates to sell off 37 lots in the Stuart Road area, are also expected to receive final approval, following an affirmative nod from the Township Flood Control Committee.

'SEE YOU IN THE FALL'

Says Safe Robber. A thief who entered a safe in the Student Center Pub on the university campus during the weekend and removed $180 left behind a note saying, "See you in September."

Chief Michael Carnevale reported that the robber used a combination and a key to unlock a drawer inside the safe to reach the money. The loss was discovered on Monday.

A stereo system valued at $450 and 60 records valued at $350 were stolen last week from a dormitory room in Pyne Hall. There was no forced entry.

Police report that the room's occupants had lost a key earlier in the week with the room number stamped on it. A Princeton High School official last week reported the theft of a $450 video camera from an unlocked storage room.

Two mopeds were stolen last week, one in the Borough and one from the Township. A $650 orange model was taken sometime Friday evening from a Fisher Avenue front porch, while another orange-colored moped was removed around midnight Friday from a rear patio on Grover Avenue.

Three pocketbooks were stolen. Sara Selby of Solebury, Pa., told police that her white canvass bag was taken from her parked car while she and a friend were walking Saturday along Lake Carnegie. She lost $85.

Her car had been forced open. She also told police that she noticed a dent in the rear fender after the incident.

Early last week, Priscilla Barnum of 35 Linwood Circle left her pocketbook on a kitchen chair in the evening. Her husband found it the next morning near the garage, minus the $22 it had contained. The rear screen door had been left unlocked, police report.

A West Windsor resident, visiting an office at Trinity Church, left her purse unattended and it was gone when she returned. The oversight cost her $20 and credit cards.

MEDICAL BUILDING?

Zoners Have Request. At a special meeting of the Township Zoning Board scheduled for next Wednesday, June 7, the board will consider a request to build a medical arts building at the foot of Bayard Lane where Bayard bends into State Road.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the staff center of the Valley Road building. Nassau Medical Arts Building is the only item on the agenda.

The new building would be constructed on what will become a triangle of land after completion of the Route 206-Mountain Avenue jug handle, now under construction. The triangle will be bounded by Route 206, Mountain Avenue Extension and the stub of Mountain Avenue at the foot of Bayard Lane. A house on the property would be converted into living space for two families.

The Use Variance Committee of the Planning Board has reservations about the plans, and Planning Board attorney Allen Porter has asked the Zoning Board for permission to "intervene" at the hearing on the Planning Board's behalf.

The committee suggests that the triangle should be explored as a possible location for high-density housing; in addition, the committee warns that doctors' offices may produce increased traffic and high turn-over traffic.

The purpose of the new jug-handle is to clear a snarled traffic situation, the committee points out, and if doctors' offices are built on the triangle, the benefits of the jug-handle might be wiped out.

In addition, the Use Variance Committee wants a study made of the effects the medical center might have on adjacent homes. The area is in a residential zone.

Petitions Started to Place Referendum On Ballot Backing Consolidation Study

Petitions are circulating in Borough and Township for the signatures required to place a municipal consolidation study on the November ballot.

Registered voters who want to sign a petition may do so by signing the form printed on page 4 of this issue of TOWN TOPICS. Borough residents should mail the form to Citizens Committee, 21 Maple Street; Township residents, to Citizens Committee, 86 Olden Lane.

These petitions are the first step in a procedure which could lead to eventual consolidation of Borough and Township into a single municipality.

Under the law, the Borough petition must have 321 signatures; the Township petition, 553. The numbers represent ten percent of the number of people who voted in the last general election. Both citizen committees—Borough and Township—say they hope for many signatures beyond the legally-required number.

Meanwhile, two public meetings will be held Monday, June 12 at 8 p.m. to explain the consolidation study process. Borough residents are invited to Borough Hall and Township residents to Township Hall.

If voters in each municipality vote favorably on November's consolidation study question, a study commission composed of Borough and Township citizens would then study the feasibility of consolidating the two municipalities, and make a report. The report could recommend either "for" or "against" consolidation.

If the committee recommends consolidation, it must also recommend a form of government for the consolidated Princetons. That recommendation would go on the ballot in November, 1979—a year from now. At that time, citizens would be asked whether they want to merge under the plan recommended by the study commission. A favorable vote in each municipality would be required to achieve consolidation.

juvenile were arrested Friday, after they allegedly shoplifted three white dresses worth $134 from Landau's Too, 126 Nassau Street.

Ptl. Randy Sutton, while on traffic patrol, recognized a description of the three suspects in a car. Assisted by Det. Ronald Holiday and Det. Gerald Patterson in two patrol cars, he arrested Stewart Byrd, 31, and Carl A. Byrd, 30. They were charged with possession of stolen property.

The two suspects were released in their own recognizance, pending their appearance in Borough court; the 17-year old will be processed as a juvenile.

Woman Charged. Alice Skinner, 36, of Trenton, has been charged with shoplifting groceries valued at $15.90 from the Acme Market and two items valued at $1.80 from the A&P in Princeton Shopping Center.

Clerks told police that they saw the suspect carrying a large handbag filled with groceries leave the store. She was taken back inside the store where another employee reported she saw the suspect leave the store carrying groceries in her hand bag.

Police said she did not have a sales slip for any of the items. Complaint summonses were signed by Acme store manager Robert Ingling and by Richard McDaniel, manager of the A&P.

It was later discovered there were two outstanding warrants for the suspect's arrest from Lawrence Township police.

3 STUDENTS INDICTED

On Cocaine, LSD Charges. Three Princeton University students have been indicted by a special Mercer County grand jury. The three were arrested in December during an early morning raid conducted by Princeton Borough and University police.

John P. Palmer, 19, who lives at the Princeton Inn on the campus, was indicted for possession of cocaine and marijuana, and possession of those drugs with intent to sell. Francois Lang, 19, of the Princeton Inn, was indicted for possession of LSD and marijuana and possession of those drugs with intent to sell. William Healey, 19, of Blair Hall, was indicted for possession of cocaine.

The grand jury downgraded charges against two other students arrested in that raid. Anthony Lamm, 19, and Alexander Alimanestiana, 18, were charged with disorderly person offenses for possession of marijuana.

Not indicted by the grand jury were Enrique Campos, 19, Charles Vaughn, 19, and Donald Roy, 19.

TWO ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Theodore P. McNulty, 9 Marion Road, and Holly H. Weise, Wertsville Road, Hopewell, were each fined $30 last week in Township court for careless driving.

Judge Philip Carchman also fined Gordon N. Hoehle, 240 Mount Lucas Road, $35 for speeding and Nigel Flanagan, 50 Little Brook Road, $35, as an unlicensed driver.

2 TO LEAVE PRINCETON

From Development Office. The director and an associate director of Princeton University's Development Office have announced their resignations to accept high-ranking posts at other institutions.

Gerald W. Patrick, the director, is presently on a five-month leave of absence in Washington where he is studying the federal government as it relates to higher education. He is working in the office of Representative John Brademas of Indiana, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Select Education.

Adele Simmons, president of Hampshire College in Amherst, Mass., has announced Mr. Patrick's appointment to the newly-created position of vice-president for development and institutional planning. He will assume his new responsibilities about August 1.

George J. Pequinet, associate director of development, also plans to leave the University during the summer. He has been named assistant vice-president for institutional advancement at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia; in January he will assume the post of vice-president succeeding Kirk Burbank, who is retiring.

RECIPIENT NAMED

For Dan Coyle Award. The trustees of the Princeton Broadcasting Service (WPRB) have awarded the Dan D. Coyle Award to Martin J. Pensak '78. The award is presented by WPRB for exceptional achievement in memory of Mr. Coyle, the former Assistant to the President and Director of Public Information of Princeton University, who died in 1973.

Mr. Pensak, a native of New Jersey, has been active at WPRB in a number of capacities during his years at Princeton. He held the positions of chief engineer and technical director, and was also heard on the air as a classical music announcer. Following graduation in June, he will join the University of California at San Francisco as FOUR FOR ONE: Four Princeton residents who hope the question of studying Borough and Township consolidation, will be on the November ballot. Far right is Mrs. Marthe Hartmann, who is canvassing the Township for signatures on the required petition. The Hartmanns live in the Township at 178 Moore, and that's their house in the background. The white house on the left next door, is in the Borough. When the Hartmanns chel over the back fence with their neighbors, everybody is talking across an invisible municipal boundary line. Signing Mrs. Hartmann's petition is Mrs. Jane Heald, Township resident, who has lived across the street from the Hartmann house at 185 Moore, for 56 years — since 1822. Borough resident Dr. William W. Lockwood, 74 Jefferson (left) is signing the petition for Borough canvasser Mrs. Sarah Wilhelm. She lives just up the street from Mrs. Hartmann at 88 Moore.

a computer programmer in the field of biochemistry.

Formerly known as The WPRB Trustees Award, the Dan D. Coyle Award is given to outstanding undergraduate station members whose work, integrity and devotion to the standards of broadcasting and the University have set an example for others to follow. Mr. Coyle, a member of the Princeton Class of 1938, retired from the University in July 1973 for reasons of health. He had joined the administrative staff early in 1946 after completing over five years of World War II service with the Army Ground Forces, advancing from second lieutenant to major.

Assistant Director of Public Information and Director of Sports Information for a decade, Mr. Coyle was assistant to President Harold W. Dodds in 1956-57, and became Associate Director of Public Information in 1957. Two years later, he was appointed Assistant to President Robert F. Goheen, a post which he held until assuming his position as Director in 1965.

A founding editor and publisher of TOWN TOPICS, he was also editor of the Princeton Athletic News for a period. Elected to Borough Council for two consecutive three-year terms, 1956-61, he twice served as the Council's president.

2 TEENAGERS CHARGED

With Campus Bike Thefts. Two Trenton teenagers, 16 and 17, were apprehended and arrested Thursday afternoon, shortly after they allegedly stole two 10-speed bicycles from Cuyler Hall.

University security told Borough police the suspects were heading across campus toward University Place. One was apprehended on Stockton near Campbellton by Officer Monica Sheehan; the second by Sgt. Thomas Procaccino on Washington Road near Nassau Street.

They were processed by the Borough juvenile officer Douglas Watson.

Three 12-year old Princeton juveniles were also processed by the Borough juvenile officer after they were allegedly responsible for breaking a 3-by-5-foot glass door at the Hall on the Westminster Choir College campus.

Police were called at 12:30 Saturday afternoon by a resident of the dormitory.

ARTS SHOW SUNDAY

Of Student Work. The Hopewell Valley High School Student Arts Festival will be held on Sunday from 2 to 5 at the Pennington Presbyterian Church on Main Street. There will be no charge for admission.

On display will be examples of all media, including the fine, practical, industrial, literary and performing arts. All of the works are products of students, made either in school or at home. The interested public is invited.

Administrative interns are recruited from approximately 30 highly selective graduate schools of business, public affairs, and education. The interns serve as assistants to presidents and business managers, and as directors of research, planning and development. Administrative interns have also been active in such areas as budgeting, investment analysis, operations analysis and research, student personnel administration, public relations, community projects, classroom teaching, and at hospitals associated with these colleges.

Low-Income Elderly May Apply for Housing

People with low incomes who are over 62 years of age or have a medical disability are eligible for the new Redding Circle public housing now under construction on Mt. Lucas Road.

Your application for one of the new apartments must be submitted to the Housing Authority of the Borough of Princeton by June 10 if you want first consideration.

You may pick up applications at the Authority's office, 50 Clay Street, or you may obtain information at 924-3448. After you have completed your application and returned it to the Authority, you will be interviewed. Information will then be turned over to the Tenant Selection Committee for decision.

"The Tenant Selection Committee feels strongly that we should make a final effort to solicit applications for the 60 units available for the elderly or the medically disabled," says Karin Slaby, director of the Authority. "Some elderly persons may have heard that we had too many applications, or they may have been hesitant about applying."

"We are making one more attempt to reach all people who think they are eligible, and who have a need for low-cost housing."

Apartments, Federally subsidized, are to be completed in August. Rents will be about one-fourth of the tenants' income.

Here's a little confusion that can make you a lot of money.

The Six Month Savings Certificate

We've got a brand new savings certificate that promises to be an outstanding money maker.

And it will tie your money up for only six months.

That's clear, right?

Well, our problem is we can't tell you the interest you'll earn for your investment. It's not that we don't want to, we literally can't!

You see, the interest rate on this special six-month limited issue certificate is based on the weekly auction price of U.S. Treasury Bills*, and the auction price fluctuates from week to week. But if you invest in a certificate, you'll earn 1/4 % more than the Treasury Bill rate for the week you purchase. And once a certificate is issued to you at a rate, you'll earn the quoted rate over the full six-month period with no fluctuation. Minimum $10,000. (Penalty required for early withdrawal.)

Don't be confused. Be enriched. And be sure to look into Princeton's other high-yield savings certificates and regular passbook accounts.

DECISION IN OCTOBER

On Lawrenceville Coeducation. The Board of Trustees of The Lawrenceville School met at the school for a special session devoted to discussion of coeducation for Lawrenceville. The 168-year-old all-male secondary school has been studying the question for several years. The trustees determined to bring the question to a vote at their October meeting, feeling that they will then have developed feasibility, and sensing that further indecision on this question might have undesirable consequences for the school.

The Board also approved plans for a proposed new Mathematics and Computer Center, which would centralize the School's academic and administrative computer functions and provide 12 new classrooms. The hexagonal building echoes the motif of the school's dining center, designed in 1971. The plan has been drawn up for presentation to a foundation that has expressed an interest in funding such a center. If the plan proves satisfactory, construction could start in the autumn.

DAY TRIPS ADDED

To Day Care Program. The University - NOW Day Nursery at 171 Broadmead will augment its regular warm-weather schedule with a new program called "Summer on Wheels."

The program will begin on Monday, June 19, and will consist of daily trips to beaches, parks, zoos, museums and other places of interest within easy traveling distance of the school. Connie Struve and Ron Koepfel of the U-NOW staff are organizing the program and will accompany the children on travels. Enrollment will be limited to ten boys and girls for each of the three sessions, which will be two weeks long and will end on Friday, August 11.

The University - NOW Day Nursery, which was started in 1970 by members of the National Organization of Women and uses facilities owned by Princeton University, is oriented toward an open, non-sexist approach to early childhood education. The school no longer has any actual ties with NOW but is operated in conjunction with the University by a board of directors composed of parents of children presently enrolled in the school.

During the regular school year U-NOW accepts children from 22 months old up to and including those of kindergarten age, and registration is open to all

Borough Districts 5, 6, 7 and 8 Redesigned for Election Tuesday

Some Borough voters find themselves in different election districts, following a county re-drawing of district lines to make municipalities neat for the 1980 census.

Borough districts affected are 5, 6, 7 and 8. Broadly speaking, the net effect of the changes is to run district borderlines down the middle of streets, rather than behind buildings on lot lines, as in the past.

District Five, for example, is now bounded by Witherspoon, Wiggins, Vandeventer, Nassau, Moore and the Borough-Township line. This places the Medical Center complex within District Five instead of District Six.

District Six will now include Princeton University's "Stanworth" apartment complex. The district is bounded by Bayard Lane, Paul Robeson-Wiggins, Witherspoon and on the north, the Borough-Township line. "Stanworth" used to be in District Eight.

District Seven will now be bounded by Nassau Street, Vandeventer Avenue, Wiggins-Paul Robeson and Bayard Lane. It has never before included Greenholm, Bank Street and all of Chambers.

District Eight, sometimes called the "Gold Coast" district, still retains much of that character. It has lost "Stanworth" and is now bounded by Bayard Lane, Library Place, Cleveland and the Borough-Township line.

District headquarters for Tuesday's Primary Election (polls open 7 a.m.-8 p.m.) are:

Each day's trip will begin at 9 and take the children as far as Island Beach State Park or as close as the Princeton University campus and Marquand Park. During rainy weather visits will be made to the Mercer Museum in SILVER BALL PLANNED Before Hospital Fete. The Silver Ball, celebrating the 25th annual benefit for the Medical Center, will be held from 6 to midnight on Friday, June 9.

Co-chaired by Betty Cleveland and Carol Caskey, the dinner dance will precede the June 10 Silver Fete. The decorations committee, headed by Rosemary Forrey and Barbara Feldcamp, plan to transform the main tent on the Fete's Washington Road site into a shimmering silver garden for the occasion.

The 8 p.m. buffet dinner will have a special dessert to mark the occasion and will include gazpacho and watercress soups, New York strip steak, glazed carrots, stuffed baked potato and tossed green salad.

A champagne preview and sale will be held in the Galaxy Gallery from 7 to 8:30. Also, this year's fun house -- "The Wookie Wagon" -- is expected to be open throughout the evening with some new surprises in a "Star Wars" theme. A prize will be awarded to the person wearing the most original silver accessory or costume to the ball.

TO DISCUSS STANDARDS

At School Meeting, Parents and other interested citizens will have a chance to criticize objectives and standards for students developed over this school year by the staff of the Princeton schools at a meeting next Thursday, June 8, at 8 p.m. in Community Park School.

"Objectives" are specific statements that indicate what students should achieve under each of the school goals worked out last year during the first phase of the Thorough-and-Efficient process.

"Standards" are the acceptable level of student performance for each objective, and how that performance is to be measured. Under the state's "thorough-and-efficient" law, these objectives and standards must be reviewed by the community, then the school board and finally the State Department of Education.

THIS CAR'S A STEAL

It Was. A 1975 2-door Plymouth valued at $2895 was stolen last week from the used car lot of Princeton Chrysler.

Plymouth on Route 206.

Owner George Pinelli discovered the theft on Saturday while doing an inventory. The car had been last seen two days earlier, after it had been shown to a customer and locked.

It was found by Montgomery Ptl. William Beachell in the Montgomery Center lot near the Foodtown store, unlocked. There was no evidence of tampering and police report it is unknown how the car was started.

In the Borough, a Patton Avenue resident called police at 12:30 Sunday morning to report that his car -- with the keys left inside -- had been stolen.

It was recovered the next day off Cherry Hill Road by Township Ptl. James Vandermark. Police said it had been involved in a hit-and-run accident. The theft is still under investigation.

FEE ORDINANCE

$77,000 for Architect. A bond ordinance to raise $77,000 toward the $130,000 to $140,000 that will be the parking garage architect's fee, was introduced by Borough Council last Thursday. Public hearing will be Tuesday, June 13, at 8 in Borough Hall.

In August, Council expects to introduce another bond ordinance to complete the entire $3 million garage package. Under the contract with garage architect John Fujiwara, the architect receives a fixed fee -- $122,000 -- for the garage proper, and probably about $10,000 -- calculated on a percentage basis, for design of the commercial space incorporated into the building. The $77,000 of the current bond ordinance is part of the $130,000 to $140,000 sum.

STOLEN CHECK CASHED

Taken from Home. A check and two credit cards were stolen from the home of David M. Atkin, 153 Parkside Drive.

Dr. Atkin told Township police last week that as he was reviewing his bank statement, he discovered someone had written a check for $150 and cashed it at the First National Bank of Princeton. He said the check had been misplaced in a bureau drawer and believed lost.

Mrs. Atkin told police that she believes the two credit cards were also stolen from the bureau, adding she has been billed for items she has never received.

There was an attempted entry at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Lapidus, 170 Lambert Drive.

Mrs. Lapidus showed Ptl. John Clausen where an aluminum door jamb of a sliding glass door of a downstairs family room had been pried and bent. There was also a pry mark on the wall next to the jamb.

The sliding door was still locked and unopened, however.

Bicycle Riders vs. Pedestrians a Problem, Police Say; Joggers vs. Automobiles? Room for All, They Declare

"Nassau Street and the Shopping Center are infested with these reckless riders -- I hope it won't take a serious accident, or a death, to curtail them."

So wrote a Princeton resident to TOWN TOPICS last week. Her target is bicycle riders. "Princeton's stress on culture and beauty is commendable," she wrote, "but these cyclists spoil it all."

Although there is an ordinance which prohibits it, Chief Frederick Porter conceded that bicycle riding in the Princeton Shopping Center has always been a problem. Instead of using the bike racks provided, youths prefer to ride along the mall, he commented.

Police try to control it, Chief Porter insisted, but it is a situation, he said, where it is impossible to put a patrolman there constantly to enforce the ordinance.

The Shopping Center had done everything within reason to try to control it, he said. "They have, on occasion, hired special officers to walk the mall to keep the kids off and have even brought in an outside security agency to try to remedy the situation."

The habitual violators are the kids, Chief Porter said. Elsewhere, he feels the problem is no worse than it has been.

A Matter of Education. Only a few, he observed, are using the bike paths that have been provided. "I think it is a matter of education."

"They've been riding on the roads so long that it's hard to adjust to using the bike paths. Education is the answer. It has to start in the schools and grow from there."

"Yes, I'd say it's a problem," said Borough Police Captain Theodore

Lewis about bicyclists using Nassau Street, but though it remains a problem, he feels it's been worse. "You used to see a lot more of them on the sidewalk than you do now."

Like Chief Porter, Captain Lewis lays most of the blame on kids and students. "It may slow down next month," he said, when the university students leave but then, in almost the same breath, he added, "a lot of young kids will take up the slack when they get out of school."

Police attempt to enforce the ordinance banning bike riders on the sidewalk, he said.

As for that other phenomenon -- the jogger -- whose sheer numbers have caused problems, Capt. Lewis says, "No problem."

"They're law-abiding. I think there's enough room in Princeton for walkers and joggers."

DEDICATED: That's what the school board and PTO Council say about Mrs. Tady Hunter (center), who has been designated "Volunteer of the Year" by the two organizations. "In an outstanding group, her dedication stands out," said Superintendent Paul Houston (left). "It is a joy and a privilege to have this opportunity to publicly recognize Tady's outstanding services," said board vice-president Robin Wallack, right. Mrs. Hunter is responsible for the weekly "Highlights" column (see page 16) and has been a volunteer in the school system for many years.

ECOLOGY PROGRAM SET By Watersheds Association. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, a non-profit environmental organization involved with water, land use planning and conservation programs in central New Jersey will conduct an ecology leadership training program for young people ages 15 to 18. During the eight-day program, students will explore the variety of habitats in central New Jersey and study the interrelationships of natural systems.

They will determine what populations are present, what the food patterns are, what each system requires to survive, how the systems relate to each other, how much area each population needs, and how people and changing land uses modifies natural habitats.

Members of the group will develop techniques for transmitting environmental concepts to younger children, and will develop leadership training skills on the trail, in overnight camps and at times of stress. After participating in the eight-day program June 26 to July 7 (excluding the weekend of July 4), students will be selected to assist the director for two or more weeks in conducting the ecology program.

Those selected as counselors for the summer program will be paid for the hours they work with the younger children and will have additional workshops and training sessions with the program director each week. They will work under the direction of Marla Fox, a teacher in outdoor leadership and environmental programs.

A special grant from the Princeton Youth Fund has made possible the paid counselor program for this summer. For further information call the Watershed Office between 9:30 and 3 at 737-3735.

Do You Know Who Clifford Case Is? 68% of New Jersey Residents Don't

Clifford Case and Harrison Williams are still not household words in New Jersey. The latest Eagleton Poll found that only 32 percent of those surveyed could name Case and 27 percent could name Williams as New Jersey's U.S. Senators. These latest figures are virtually unchanged since both February of this year, and February of 1972, when Case went on to win reelection.

New Jerseyans appeared to have a clearer image of Senator Williams than Senator Case. A majority - 51 percent - correctly identified Williams as a Democrat, while 55 percent said he was a Republican and 43 percent did not know his party affiliation. In comparison, Case was correctly identified as a Republican by only 40 percent, while one quarter - 24 percent - mistakenly believed Case to be a Democrat and 36 percent were uncertain of the Senator's party ties.

New Jerseyans were also unsure about the Senior New Jersey Senator's political orientation. Despite consistently receiving high ratings from liberal groups such as the Americans for Democratic Action for his Senate voting record, only 23 percent of the statewide sample considered Case to be a liberal, while 32 percent classified him as a conservative and 43 percent were unsure of the Senator's ideological leanings.

New Jerseyans gave both Case and Williams mixed reviews on their job performance. Thirty-eight percent rated Williams performance positively as "excellent" or "good", while 30 percent gave him negative marks as "only fair" or "poor." The remaining 33 percent were undecided.

The public's evaluation of Case was very similar, as 37 percent graded him positively, 26 percent negatively and 38 percent ventured no opinion. Case's job performance showed a slight improvement from February of this year when 31 percent rated him positively and 32 percent negatively.

Associate Director of the Eagleton Poll, Cliff Zukin, commented that, "Perhaps the most significant finding is not in the favorable or unfavorable evaluations, but in the large number of those who do not feel comfortable evaluating either Senator after two decades of incumbency." Mr. Zukin attributed this and the small proportion able to name the Senators to two factors. "Compared with other members of the Senate neither Case nor Williams are active publicity seekers. Also, it is more difficult to be highly visible in New Jersey as there really is no statewide newspaper and no in-state VHF television station."

Twenty-two percent of interviewed said they would vote for Case if he were the Republican Senate nominee in 1978, while 26 percent said they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Twenty-eight percent said their vote would depend on who the Democratic candidate was, while 21 percent said they were uncertain as to how they would vote. These figures are virtually unchanged since February of this year.

Partisanship heavily influenced citizens' choices, as 49 percent of the Republicans, 20 percent of those who called themselves Independents and only nine percent of the Democrats interviewed said they would support Case. A majority of the Democrats interviewed - 51 percent - said they would vote for the Democratic candidate, while only 15 percent of the Independents and seven percent of the Republicans said they would do so. The remainder declined to make a choice or said they would wait to see who the Democratic nominee was.

Liberals were slightly less likely to support Case than Conservatives. Zukin noted that, "while partisans are about equal in support of their own party's candidates, the Independents, which often hold the balance of power in elections are largely uncommitted."

Support for Case's nomination, however, has increased among Republicans. When asked by Eagleton if they would like to see Case as the Republican candidate for Senator this November, 42 percent of the Republicans interviewed favored the incumbent while 31 percent said they would prefer someone else while 28 percent offered no opinion.

In February, 31 percent of the Republicans interviewed said they would prefer Case, while 28 percent said they would prefer someone else and 41 percent were undecided. Case also gained support among those who reported usually voting in Republican party primaries in the past. In February of this year 30 percent of this group said they would like to see Case re-nominated while 34 percent did not and 37 percent were undecided. The April Eagleton survey showed 37 percent in favor of Case's candidacy while 34 percent were opposed and 28 percent were undecided.

Republicans were no more knowledgeable about Case than were Democrats and Independents. All three groups were equally able to name Case as a Senator, identify him as a Republican or classify him as a liberal. However, New Jerseyans who said they usually vote in Republican party primaries were somewhat better informed about Case than that, "while partisans are more likely to be able to name him as a U.S. Senator, Independents, which often hold the balance of power in elections are largely uncommitted." However, less difference between Republican identifiers and Republican primary voters satisfaction with Case's job.

"There's nothing
small-time
about small-town banking."

John Hoff,
President of
The First National Bank of Princeton

"A small-town approach to banking means being in touch with the community and the people you serve. And that takes a big-time commitment, a full-time commitment.

"As president of First National and a Princeton resident, I extend my banking hours by working for as many local civic organizations as possible—from the Medical Center of Princeton to McCarter Theatre. And I'm especially proud of the active role our people play in local community affairs. We believe that's the only way to really understand our customers. And to provide the full personal service that's so important—but, unfortunately, so rare—in this day and age.

"Personal service is, no doubt, a major reason for the huge success of our YES PLUS® program. YES PLUS responds to your everyday personal banking needs with many fine services including free checking with a cash reserve, free telephone transfers, loan discounts and much more. But, more important, YES PLUS gives you your own personal banker... someone who knows you by name... one person to turn to with all your banking problems. That's what we call small-town, full service banking. That's what I mean when I say we're truly a people-oriented bank. But don't misunderstand: small town doesn't mean small bank. As a member of one of New Jersey's largest banking organizations—United Jersey Banks—we have total resources in excess of $2.3 billion!

"I think our small-town personal banking approach makes a tremendous difference—a difference you'll sense the moment you walk in the door. Stop by soon and see how we've put an end to banking anonymous!"

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

(The following information was researched and written by members of the Regional Schools PTO Council, and the opinions expressed are not those of TOWN TOPICS.)

JOHN WITHERSPOON SCHOOL will play host to music students from the O'Henry School (IS 70) of New York City on Tuesday, June 6. This will be the second year that the stage band has visited JW and given concert performances of their jazz-show-tune repertoire.

Although the Intermediate School is made up of students from grades six through nine, the band membership is predominantly ninth graders. An invitation to become an instrumentalist in this select group is given only after audition and acceptance by the director, Mr. Jerry Sheik. Responsibilities go along with privilege - the band's rehearsal schedule is of the after-school variety. Usually the O'Henry Stage Band touring is limited to the New York City area, but JW teacher Mrs. Ruderman assisted in making arrangements for the performances here, one assembly at 10:40 and another at 12:40 are open to parents and the community. O'Henry School students will see a bit of Princeton as well as spending the day - including lunch - with their JW counterparts.

ALUMNI CHILDREN and families of the Rowland - Hunsinger multi-age, K-1-2 classes are invited to attend a reunion picnic which will be held on Wednesday, June 7, from 5 p.m. to dusk at Marquand Park (rain date, June 14). For details, call Sally Rowland or Faye Hunsinger at Community Park School, 924-5600, Ext. 288.

"COME TO THE CABARET, old chum, come to the cabaret" is the tune that tops the RS hit song list as they plan for a night of fun and a show staged by Diana Crane. There are a limited number of tickets for the June second fund raiser, so reserve your table early.

SNAC - the School Nutrition Advisory Committee - will meet in the conference room at Valley Road School on Friday, June 2. Anyone interested in the school lunch program from the standpoint of nutritive value and in fostering "consumer education" is invited to attend this open session. The meeting time is, quite aptly, at noon.

THE JW PRINCIPAL'S CABINET organized last Friday evening's dance at the school - the first dance open to the entire school population of staff and students. Music was under the supervision of a professional "deejay" in the school gym.

AN ORIGINAL PLAY ABOUT MORVEN and the history of Princeton was given at CP by third graders directed by Mrs. Gerrie Penrose. Scenes of interest included Princeton Cemetery (where the class had earlier done gravestone rubbings) and the two-hundredth anniversary party of Morven held in 1901 by Mrs. Stockton. Students took the parts of guests who attended that celebration, each dressing as a former occupant or visitor there. Chan Kinchla and Stephen Sigmund played the roles of "live" skeletons Robert Stockton and John Witherspoon. One current Morven resident, third grader Billy Byrne, was a member of the cast.

THE PHS PRE-SCHOOL class taught by Mrs. Arcamone got an extra-special session on child care and development when Mrs. Pease, PHS nurse, demonstrated the bathing of an infant, with student assistance. Instead of the usual doll mannequin, a live, two-month old baby boy smiled and charmed his audience - and sitters.

T&E IN PRINCETON Regional Schools has two tasks assigned for this 1977-78 school year: (1) to determine educational objectives for all district and school goals, and (2) to set standards - minimum levels of skill - for any objectives which can be measured. The first job has been completed, and the second is well underway. Before submission to the State Department of Education, these objectives and standards will be presented to the community for their review. Comments and questions, this process was followed when the "Goals" portion of T&E was finished last spring.

Some of the staff work has been done in small group meetings while other portions represent district-wide effort by teachers on Wednesday afternoon released time.

Statement "Minimal,"

To the Editor of Town Topics: I have read with dismay the new policy statement of the Princeton University Trustees regarding South African investment. (TOWN TOPICS, May 17.) While carefully worded to be conciliatory to those of opposing points of view, and expressive of moral concern, if not anguish, the statement, as a response to the serious situation in South Africa, is abysmally minimal. The trustees rejected even the university's Resource Committee recommendation regarding disinvestment in banks making loans to the Vorster government. Citibank itself has ceased making loans to the South African government. Such loans are the most obvious, direct linkages between American institutions and the policy of apartheid. Refusal to take action, even in this area, casts the university trustees in an ultra-conservative light.

passion lasts; perhaps we should begin with Donald Woods book, "Biko," staring at Steve Biko's child crying at his murdered father's funeral. For some, perhaps for most, that might be seen as a puerile emotional response to the complexities of institutional and corporate involvement in international social structures. For my part, I will tend the emotional response for as long as it flickers. I have more hope for the effect of human compassion and moral outrage than for all the monitoring, letter-writing, and proxy-voting put together.

Post Office Lines Too Long.

To the Editor of Town Topics: If you wish to protest the lack of window service at the Princeton post office, you can call or write the Princeton postmaster and beyond him, Congressman Frank Thompson.

The last time I was in the post office, 23 people were waiting in line. They seemed to agree it was time to do something.

Facts on Bikepath.

To the Editor of Town Topics: It is with considerable sadness that I read that in public meeting the donors of the Great Road bikepath are once again being held responsible for the construction and appearance of it. Because I have represented them in the negotiations for the gift, may I briefly go over the facts which are often blatantly and emotionally misrepresented. First it should be stated that anonymity was not requested because of a desire to inflict some undesirable situation on Township citizens, nor because any concern was felt for the benefits of the path. Indeed this project was selected by the donors in an effort to hasten the construction of an already officially planned bikepath in the school and recreational links of the township.

The donors specifically requested that the safety of the users, as well as the automobile drivers, be of prime concern; they were assured that it was constructed according to approved federal standards. They indicated some months ago to Township Committee that changes which may be made in consideration of the aesthetic impact would meet with their approval. The Committee has stated that these were under consideration.

It seems that most of the letter-writers and speakers against the bikepath have pursued a castigation of the donors, instead of realizing that, in fact, the thought behind this generous gift was

Where in our culture, if not from the universities, the Places of Truth, or from the slumbering churches, are we to get the opposing conviction that no cost is too great, no action too "heroic" to prevent the unjust death of another human being tomorrow? Perhaps we must seek within ourselves for as long as our un replenished store of com-

PRINCIPALS SWITCHED

For W. Windsor Schools. The West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional Board of Education has approved changes in the assignments of the district's elementary school principals effective July 1. It is the board's belief that the new assignments will match more closely the needs of each elementary school with the skills and interests of the principals.

Affected by the changes are Arthur C. Downs, Jr., principal of the Maurice Hawk School, who will assume the principalship of the Dutch Neck School; Mrs. Alemedia Pace, principal of the Dutch Neck School, who will become principal of the John V.B. Wicoff School and Donald M. Rizzo, principal of the John V. B. Wicoff School, who will assume the principalship of the Maurice Hawk School.

In other personnel matters, the board reappointed Mrs. Arlene Esakoff as assistant board secretary and Mrs. Elaine B. Kalikoff as administrative secretary-assistant to the superintendent. It was also noted that Richard H. Willever, Superintendent, went under tenure on May 19.

The board also granted a maternity leave of absence to Mrs. Kristine Luberto, first grade teacher at the Maurice Hawk School, effective September 1 through June 30, 1979. In addition, the board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Denise Fimbel, nurse at the high school, and Mrs. Dianne Garsky, first grade teacher at the Maurice Hawk School.

The board also approved 36 courses for the fall semester of the district's Adult School. They range from ballet to Yoga and include 15 new offerings. In addition, the board approved for first reading policies pertaining to personnel records, curriculum

Slugs—All Six Inches of the Bigger Ones—Used to Test Memory Power of Lower Animals

To most gardeners, slugs are summer-time nuisances and objects of revulsion. To Alan Gelperin of 207 Harrison Street, they are year-round objects of fascination and study.

Dr. Gelperin, an associate professor of biology at Princeton University, has been working for the last eight years on the neurophysiology of memory, using garden slugs as his experimental animal.

The species of slug used in his experiments is Limax maximus, a large spotted creature locally abundant in certain backyards in the Princeton area. Limax may grow to six inches, making it considerably bigger than the more common variety of garden slug, and with its spots, it is certainly more exotic.

Dr. Gelperin uses slugs for studying the synaptic basis of learning. (A synapse is the specialized gap between the nerve cells, over which messages are transmitted between one neuron and another.) He is trying to find out exactly what changes in neurons when something is learned, and he and his colleagues are especially intrigued by what he calls "the unsolved marvel of memory."

Slugs Ideal Subjects. In higher animals, including humans, neurons are microscopic and deeply imbedded in the brain matrix, making them difficult to study as individual cells. In slugs, however, single neurons are easily accessible and large enough for electrodes to be implanted in them under a dissecting microscope. An experimenter can even change the chemistry of the cell by injecting drugs into the neuron.

"Another important factor is that, at the cellular level, the similarities between nerve cells across the animal kingdom are much more striking than the differences," Dr. Gelperin says. Size differences aside, biologically and functionally, the neurons of slugs and humans are not that far apart.

Dr. Gelperin has found he can train slugs to avoid their favorite foods -- potatoes, mushrooms or carrots -- if he flushes their cage with carbon dioxide gas as soon as they finish feeding. The gas makes the slugs sick, and they shun the food the next time it is offered. This behavioral trait -- the rapid onset of long-duration food avoidance learning -- has long been recognized in vertebrates, but Dr. Gelperin and his associates are the first to demonstrate it in lower animals.

Gardeners will be happy to know that many predators have a taste for slugs as great as the slug's appetite for lettuce and tomatoes. Frogs, toads, snakes and shrews are among the many animals that will make a meal of them, Dr. Gelperin says.

Dr. Gelperin has found he can train slugs to avoid their Continuing from the spring session will be "Exercise for Fitness," led by Diane Kilpatrick, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 9 - 10 a.m. This course stresses total physical fitness through the use of aerobic exercises, such as dancing, jogging and rope jumping, as well as stretching and calisthenics.

Drawing and sketching for both beginners and those with some experience will continue with Amy Kassiola, Mondays, 10:30 to 11:30. For the summer session, the class will go outdoors to nearby scenic locations. Added to the schedule for the first time will be a daily half-hour exercise

SCHOOL IN NEW HANDS In Lawrenceville. Dr. Pamela Sarett, an educational psychologist, will become the new owner-director of the Little Red School in Lawrenceville on June 2. She earned her doctorate at Rutgers and holds an M.A. in microbiology from Ohio State.

Until now the school has offered only half-day programs, but starting with the summer session, June 19-August 18, there will be a full-day nursery for children 2 through 5. During the academic year the ages are 20 months through 4 years. The school provides care for 50 children, and the teacher-child ratio is about 1 to 5, "sometimes less, sometimes more, and with extra help where needed," according to Dr. Sarett.

After extensive renovations to the two-acre site and the school house, the summer session will open with both morning and afternoon programs for a five-day week. Afternoons may be two, three or five days and can be combined with the five-day morning program.

Beginning September 11, the school will operate on a quarterly schedule. A kitchen is being installed to provide hot lunches in the fall.

For further information, call 896-9891 between 9 and 12 or 466-2873 after 5.

May Market a Success.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Though May 9 may seem some time ago to many people, we're sure you will understand that in rounding off an annual event such as the May Market the intervening days go quickly.

Now we know that though rain made it necessary to hold this event on Wednesday following instead of the traditional Tuesday it still was a great success. Case Stronger in Poll over Any Democrat Who Might Be Chosen to Run against Him

Clifford Case would lead any of the three major Democratic contenders for his Senate seat if the election were held today, according to the latest Eagleton Poll. The Rutgers - based survey, conducted between May 7 and May 16, also found that all of the three Democrats would hold a lead over Jeffrey Bell, Case's major opponent for renomination in the Republican primary, although most are still undecided.

Among the state's registered voters, Case led Bill Bradley by 37 to 27 percent with 36 percent undecided. His lead over former State Treasurer Richard Leone was 44 to 24 percent with 32 percent undecided and he topped Alex Menza, a former State Senator, by an even wider 43 to 18 percent margin with 40 percent undecided.

The Democrats fared better against Jeffrey Bell. Bradley led the Republican insurgent by 36 to 17 percent with 47 percent undecided. Leone's edge was 29 to 18 percent with 54 percent undecided. Menza barely led Bell by a 22 to 19 percent margin with 59 percent undecided.

Case built up his lead by doing extremely well among Republicans as well as winning a plurality of independents. Even among Democrats, the veteran Senator trailed only narrowly. The only soft spot in Case's strength was with voters under 30. Among this group he trailed Bradley by 31 to 24 percent, and narrowly led Leone, by 33 to 27 percent, and Menza, by 30 to 27 percent.

In explaining these results, Stephen Salmore, Director of the Eagleton Poll, pointed out that "young voters know much less about Case than older residents who have had the chance to vote for him as many as four different times. Only about half of those under 30 -- 54 percent -- even recognized his name as compared to 84 percent for those over 30."

Leone and Bradley both ran ahead of Case among Democrats, but Bradley did better than Leone in attracting Independent and Republican voters. While Bradley did somewhat better than Leone among most groups he did particularly well among men. Male voters clearly preferred Case over Leone by a 47 to 25 percent margin while against Bradley the margin narrowed to only 39 to 33 percent.

Salmore again pointed out that these differences can be explained by looking at recognition levels. "Almost two - thirds of men -- 64 percent -- said they recognized Bradley's name as compared to only 38 percent of women. Only one - third of men -- 32 percent -- said they recognized Leone's name as did 23 percent of women."

HOW TO ERADICATE RHODODENDRON BORERS

by Sam deTuro

Early spring is the time to examine Rhododendrons for borers. The first symptom is usually droopy, wilted foliage.

Next, examine the base of stems. Borers can speedily kill branches by girdling beneath the bark. Sometimes openings in these tunnels may be visible at the surface. Serious breaks in the bark may occur, and these could lead to cankerous areas. Treat tunnels with "Bore-Kill" and cut out stems and heavily infected branches.

Then apply a spray of Lindane to the bark of the remaining branches to thwart further borer attack. This treatment should be supplemented by feeding to restore plant vigor.

DOGWOOD CARE VITAL IN MAY: PRUNE, FEED AND CONTROL BORERS

Flowering Dogwoods require extra care this year. The long, severe winter has left many of these showy lawn trees in poor condition. Dead twigs and branches are now showing up in their crowns, and borers are a serious threat.

Dogwoods should be fed liberally this spring to help restore lost vigor and to fend off attack by borers.

Now at the height of their floral display, these handsome ornamental trees should be pruned shortly after bloom. Prune to eliminate dead wood, to space the limbs, permit better circulation of light and air, and encourage development of floral buds for next year.

Borers invade wounds and cracks on trunk and branches and at crotches of limbs. Avoiding mechanical injury, such as lawnmower bumps, reduces the chances of infestation.

For its project, "Stockton Family Papers," the Princeton Historical Society will research, organize and edit the papers (1761-1911) of a family prominent in New Jersey and national affairs. Approximately four linear feet of letters, diaries, journals, documents and other papers of the Stockton and Hunter families, the bulk of the papers date from 1775 to 1860. When completed, they will be made available to the public on microfilm.

Joseph J. Felcone of 69 Jefferson Road is director of the project. He is also foundation director of the David Library, Washington Crossing, Pa.

Earn U.S. Treasury Bill Interest Rates with a First National State FIRST RATE Six-Month Savings Certificate.

With First National State's new FirstRate Six Month Savings Certificate you can earn an interest rate equal to the six-month U.S. Treasury Bill rate in effect at the time you purchase the certificate.

Which means savers with a minimum of $10,000 can earn a higher rate of interest in a six month period of time than ever before at First National State. For example, on May 22, 1978 the rate was 7.141% on an annual basis.

On top of that your money is only invested for 6 months at a time. Then you may renew your certificate (again at the prevailing six-month Treasury Bill rate) or withdraw your money without any penalty.*

To take advantage of this exciting new money-earning opportunity fill out and mail the coupon to us with your check. Or stop in at any First National State office and purchase your certificate in person.

*Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate.

As the State's largest commercial bank, we're sure to have an office near you. And you're sure to be dollars ahead six months from now.

Mail to First National State Bank of Central Jersey, Dept. FR, 891 Brunswick Avenue, Trenton, NJ 08638
Enclosed is my check for $_____ (minimum, $10,000)
Please issue in my name and at the address listed below a First National State FirstRate Six Month Savings Certificate (dated June 1, 1978 or later). I understand that the interest rate of the FirstRate Certificate will be equal to the rate of six-month U.S. Treasury Bills auctioned immediately prior to the date of issue.

One of the prettiest houses on Van Kirk Road is this Thompson-style Cape Cod. The entrance foyer is large and welcoming; the living room has a brick-wall fireplace that's truly unique, and large sliding glass doors to the flagstone patio. The dining room has a charming window seat, and a door to the brick patio. The family room, with its warm panelling is lined with bookcases and storage. The large, country-style kitchen has an eat-in area beside the fireplace, a center island, a planning desk and more. There are three bedrooms, including the master bedroom, and two baths. The house is designed for comfortable living and entertaining-inside and out.

Long, low and lovely, in a perfect spot on a beautifully-landscaped corner of Mercer Road is this large, partially-brick ranch. The varied trees, the established vegetable garden, and the unusual and attractive swimming pool will be enjoyable all summer. On cold evenings, the living room's marble fireplace will attract you; there is a formal dining room, a good-sized family room, and an eat-in kitchen. On the same floor are also the five bedrooms, 2½ baths, and a utility room.

$149,000

This lovely ranch-style house is perfect for a couple who enjoy entertaining with graciousness. The spacious living room has a fireplace and two picture windows with window seats. The library has a handsome stone floor, another fireplace, mahogany panelling, built-in bookcases, and three picture windows. To round out your entertaining pleasures, there is a large patio leading to a beautiful pool. The setting is priceless: the entrancing Tall Timbers area. But descriptions are not enough - this house must be seen to be fully appreciated.

For Scores of Princeton Commuters, Life Won't Be the Same When 'Dinky' Conductor John Bancroft Retires on Wednesday

Wednesday is the last day of work for retiring "Dinky" conductor John Bancroft and the end of a remarkable partnership between himself and brakeman George Dey.

For more years than either can recall, the two have shepherded their flock of commuters on the Princeton Branch to and from the main line with a mixture of good natured bullying and badgering that brings appreciative smiles to those who ride the Dinky.

The friendship began in May, 1943, and although John and George have worked apart in several other places, they function as a team on the Dinky. For the last 10 years, they have worked the "daylight" run, which begins with the 5:25 a.m. departure for Princeton Junction and ends nearly nine hours later, after eight trips down and eight trips back.

Taking Care of the Commuter. Planting his large frame at the end of a car, John was known to bellow, "The fellow with a blue Dodge, license number XYZ123, is going to be mighty unhappy when he gets home tonight and finds he can't start the car because he left the lights on." Jumping up from behind his Wall Street Journal, the negligent commuter would scurry off the train to take care of the problem, while John held the train up and his fellow commuters guffawed at his return.

John and George also fed quarters to hungry parking meters, taxing the offending car owner a dollar so that he wouldn't forget the next time. Tire-changing and car maintenance were among the host of automotive services they performed between runs. They also often drove distraught passengers home when there was no taxi, or out to the Junction when the Dinky was not scheduled to run.

Thursday was "shoe shine day," when one could expect pointed comments on the degree of polish of one's shoes. Another game was the running bet on how many people were on the Dinky during that five-minute trip. And there were always jokes, sometimes off-color, sometimes at the expense of one individual, but always in the interest of brightening up the repetitious beginning of the commuters' day.

John Bancroft
Retirement Isn't the End of the Line

"We try to send everyone to work happy," is the way John sums up his work ethic. He is proud that he knows better than 50 percent of his commuters by name and has a host of warm memories of individuals and occasions. "Every day is a special day; they treat me like a king," he says.

Over 30 Years on the Railroad. John began working for the railroad on February 13, 1942. He had been a milkman for a dairy in Ewing Township, where he lives, when one of his customers, a freight conductor, suggested he try for one of the new openings as a freight brakeman. He transferred to passenger service the following fall as a brakeman and has always been glad that he made the move.

In 1944, he first came on to the Princeton Branch and in 1945 was promoted to conductor. In a service in which seniority counts heavily, he was the youngest conductor in the area and was placed on the afternoon, 3:30 to midnight shift, which he worked for five or six years. He worked 365 days a year with no holidays, not even Christmas and New Year's, but has five paid weeks of vacation.

Retirement Plans. This Wednesday, George will return from two weeks of his vacation to make the trips with John on his last day. John will be given a three-suiter piece of luggage, a replica of the old Pennsylvania Railroad keystone inscribed "to John D. Bancroft from his PJ&B commuter friends," and a card with more than 200 signatures. And on June 10 there will be a gala buffet supper at the home of Alden and Louise Dunham at 73 Brookstone Drive, which most commuters wouldn't miss.

George Dey, who will probably succeed his friend as conductor until he himself retires in July 1979, calls John "very dedicated and a goodwill ambassador to the fullest extent of the word. He does many, many things that are above and beyond the call of duty."

Why does a man in his early 60's who says, "When it is a pleasure to come to work each day, then you know you have a good job," want to retire? Wednesday is also the last day of work for John's wife, an adjuster for Business Week at McGraw-Hill. Barring, of course, being what they are today, the couple figures that their retirement income will be off their working income by only $100 a month and they might as well relax to do what they want.

They will spend a couple of weeks on Cape Cod and another five or six weeks in Wales where John has an Aunt who runs a club on the coast. And after that, who knows — he might start a little business of some kind.

As for the Dinky, its future continues to be debated and it may be replaced by buses, but commuters will never have the same kind of gruff, friendly, personal service that was the hallmark of the John Bancroft - George Dey partnership.

During the summer months temperatures in the attic can reach as high as 150 degrees. original play, "Anansi," in the Mall.

The group's technique is to engage the audience as actors in the piece, tapping their creativity and teaching them to act out their emotions and ideas. The plays are with, rather than for, children, because without their physical and vocal help there is no play. Each performance is a collaboration rather than a passive absorption of the artist's work.

"For many children, it is the first time they realize they can create," says Irene Sterling, a member of the professional company. "They freak out when they discover they can write stories too. What they are doing is exploring their own fantasy, saying they have something to contribute that is worth something."

Founded in 1972 and based in Paterson, the Learning Theater has played the New Jersey Arts Festival, Lincoln Center Library of Performing Arts and the Washington Square Methodist Church, both in New York City, and schools and libraries in a tri-state area.

TO OFFER CLASSES

In Music and Dance. Lee Dratfield, singer, actress and specialist in children's music, is offering three different workshops in music and drama for youngsters from 3 to 10 years old.

Mrs. Dratfield, a former consultant in children's music and play at Bank Street College of Education in New York City, combines song, Dalcroze eurythmics (rhythms and dance) and dramatic play in her classes. The emphasis for the pre-schooler is playing out to music. Kindergarten and first graders receive an introduction to music and drama, and folk songs and folk dances from around the world are taught to the 7-10 year old age group.

Classes will be held at her studio in Princeton twice a week from July 5 to August 1. For information and brochure, call 921-8907.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED
For Musical in July. Theatre-By-The-Lake has announced tryouts for the first show of the sixth season. Artistic directors Francis A. Towne and Jeffrey R. Holcombe have chosen the Broadway musical, "Bye, Bye Birdie". Tryouts will take place in Geiger-Reeves Hall on the Peddie campus, South Main and Ward streets, Hightstown, Thursday and Friday, June 8 and 9 at 7 pm.

"Bye, Bye Birdie" was the first major hit of the team of Charles Strauss and Lee Adams. It opened in 1960 and ran for two years, making a star out of Dick VanDyke.

A satire of the "rocking" '50's, it centers around an Elvis Presley-like star being sent into the army. To capitalize on his situation, his agent runs a national contest in which the lucky winner will receive a kiss from Conrad Birdie on the "Ed Sullivan Show".

There are numerous singing, acting and dancing roles for both men and women. The cast is evenly divided between teenagers and adults and includes that of Conrad's agent, Albert, and his love-interest, Rosie; Mr. and Mrs. MacAfee, their daughter, Kim; Albert's mother, (a good character role), as well as a chorus of teenagers and adults. The featured role is that of Conrad Birdie himself, for which Theatre-By-The-Lake is looking for a good impersonator of an Elvis Presley type.

Prospective actors may bring, if they wish, the following audition materials: resume, photograph and prepared song. Directing the production will be Thomas Cardea of Hightstown High School with musical direction provided by Francis A. Towne. Rehearsals will be in the evenings between 7 and 11 for four weeks. Production dates will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 6-8.

Theatre-By-The-Lake is also looking for anyone interested in working backstage on lights, sets, props and publicity. For further information, call the theatre at 443-4544 or Mr. Holcombe at 448-3526.

COURSE TO BE OFFERED
In Electronic Music. The Princeton University Center for Continuing Education in conjunction with the Department of Music will offer an introductory, non-credit course in electronic music this summer. It will be held from June 19 to July 28.

Called "Electronic Music Synthesis," it is designed as a general course for those with no previous experience in the electronic music medium. There will be two three-hour evening lectures per week and three hours per week of individual studio time and instruction. The cost is $200. For application and more information call 452-5003 or write the Center for Continuing Education, 5 Ivy Lane. The deadline for application is June 10. Enrollment is limited to 20, and at least 12 must enroll for the course to be offered.

Carter also makes a collection of separates for toddlers in a pink knit with the look of seersucker, trimmed with white collars and pocket flaps.

Health Tex shows many attractive separates, shortalls, sunsuits and matched sets for toddlers and infants. A shortall for an infant boy in green denim with matching shirt, striped with red, blue, green, white is perfect "for a visit to grandma's house." An adorable dress for an infant

MANY PATCHWORK ITEMS

At Cabin Creek Quilts, Cabin Creek Quilts is a shop that is an outlet for many hand-sewn patchwork articles made by the rural mountain women in West Virginia. Quilts, pillow covers, place mats, tea cozies, aprons, T-shirts, wrap skirts, tote bags, stuffed animals are carefully made and of fine artistic merit. The quilts are masterpieces of patchwork design and color, skillfully quilted with tiny hand stitches.

This cache of folk art was discovered when two Vista volunteers saw gorgeous quilts hanging over the porch railings of mountain cabins. Visualizing the potential in this traditional skill, and realizing the need of these mountain women for additional income, they organized a non-profit cooperative in the Cabin Creek area. When you buy any of these handsewn items, you are acquiring a unique and decorative article and contributing to a valuable self-help program.

Patchwork Furnishings. Beautiful Cabin Creek quilts are pieced in traditional handed-down quilt patterns including Grandmother's Flower Garden, Double Wedding Ring, Trip Around the World, Sunshine and Shadow and Dresden Plate. They make excellent keepsake wedding gifts and decorative wall hangings or bedspreads. Prices range from $100 - $270 for single beds, $125 - $320 for double.

Patchwork place mats reverse to a solid color and look fresh and summery in many combinations of colors. The Moon over the Mountain pattern is $4, including a matching napkin. Other patterns - Log Cabin, Crazy Patch, Nine Patch are $4 each and napkins can be bought separately for 75 cents.

Square or rectangular tablecloths are made from six inch squares in a choice of blues and greens or golds and browns, and are reversible, $25 - $50. A green and yellow Dresden Plate design is the applied center of a 72" round lime green cloth hemmed with a print of tiny yellow roses, $25.

STRAWBERRY SEASON: June is the season for strawberries, and this quilt, presented by Sally Easter, manager of Cabin Creek Quilts, offers the fruit in a more lasting form. Plump red berries are hand-applied to a white background; dark green fabric delineates the squares. You'll find patchwork in many forms at Cabin Creek Quilts to use as decorative accents or gifts.

Plump pot holders in an assortment of quilt patterns and colors are $2.25 each; tea cozies in a Crazy Patch or Fan design, $9. Kitchen aprons in the Trip Around the World pattern have a large pocket and reverse to a solid color, $12. Pillow covers in the Log Cabin design, $16, Nine Patch, $14, or an eight-point Star, $10 are welcome shower or hostess gifts.

Wearing Apparel and Accessories. Reversible wrap skirts in floor or street lengths are fashionable and easy to wear, as they have adjustable waist sizes; short $30 - $45, long $35 - $50. Children's reversible dresses have an A-line skirt made in the Dresden Plate design; $10 for sizes 1 - 3, $12 for sizes 4 - 6. T-shirts for all ages are given a different look with an applied quilt patch; white or solid colors in sizes 3 - 8 are $4, 10 - 20, $5, adults, S, M, L, $6.

Over the shoulder hand bags are decorated with a Dresden Plate quilt patch on a deep flap or made of quilted patchwork in the Crazy Patch or Nine Block design, $5 - $12. A shopping tote in lime green displays a green and yellow Bear's Paw quilt design, $18.

Quilted Crazy Patch glasses cases are spacious enough to hold the new, large-framed spectacles, $3.50. Sun visors with a half crown of patchwork are perfect for tennis, gardening, golf, sailing, $4.25; matching tennis racquet covers are also available, $9. Neckties in a Crazy Patch pattern would be something different to give father on Father's Day, $9.

Toys. Gifts for babies include an old-fashioned sock doll, soft and washable, $4; a soft clutch ball in a medley of patchwork pieces, also washable; and a patchwork bib, which reverses to a solid color, $3.50. A zoo of stuffed animals provides good companions for babies and the animals are adored by teenagers, $8 - $20. Soft stuffed dolls dressed like pioneer women would delight a little girl, $10.

Services. All patchwork items can be custom ordered in special sizes and your favorite color combinations. Heirloom quilt tops can be skillfully quilted by the mountain women. They will also make quilts for you, using your own fabrics.

Gifts for Foreign Travel. Patchwork articles from Cabin Creek Quilts are uniquely American and ideal for gifts to relatives and friends in foreign countries. Pillow covers, place mats, T-shirts, aprons, and baby bibs are light and flat for easy packing and take up little space. Universally appealing, they are also good choices for foreign visitors to take home.

Cabin Creek Quilts also carries the UNICEF cards and notepaper all year around. A new assortment of birthday cards shows five different pastoral designs, 10 for $2.50. Mini cards are museum reproduction prints and special designs made for UNICEF, 20 for $3. Canadian Indian Art postcards are bold primitive designs of birds, 25 for $3.

Cabin Creek Quilts is located at 195 Nassau Street. Sally Easter is manager. Store hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 10 - 5.

AMERICANA ON VIEW
At University Art Museum.
Our consideration of the American portrait began last month when the Squibb Galleries provided us with a large and dramatic collection of contemporary portraits (TOWN TOPICS, May 10). The swashbuckling nature of the contemporary portrait left us with images of heroic statements and a smile at the efforts made by the current generation of portrait painters to make a unique statement.

It also left us with a bonus in the form of a point of departure from which to view the extensive collection of American portraits that is now on display at the Princeton University Art Museum. We are able to trace what appears to be a true evolution of the creative in portraiture from the very formal beginnings to what can only be described as the hot-shot present as displayed at Squibb.

The current exhibition, a collection of works drawn from the University collection, starts with the beginning of art in the new nation and, in somewhat patchy fashion, takes us through two centuries of American effort to depict ourselves. It offers us an opportunity to study some of the faces that preceded us and the variety of ways in which they chose to be seen.

THOSE MEN ARE HERE AGAIN: "Reunions" is the name of this painting and of the exhibit at Gallery 100. Avery Chenoweth '50 is the artist.

The collection begins with the primitive portraits that are a uniquely American form. The works of our earliest, untutored artists, these paintings reflect the beginnings of our society. Simple representations stated without the embellishments or sophistication of later American painting provide a direct visual link with our beginnings.

A Nation Emerges. As this nation became affluent and able to better maintain its European connection, its art changed. The early 19th century portraits in the collection reflect these changes. Studies of the affluent and powerful, they display the European influences while they mirror some of the formality and social rituals of the emerging nation.

Changes in artistic and social values become clear as the collection moves to the end of the 19th century. Works of artists such as Mary Cassatt, Thomas Eakins and John Singer Sargent reflect more painterly concerns in the portrait.

The advent of the photograph at this time also changed the nature of the portrait. The subject could now choose to be captured by the lens instead of the brush, and many did. The exhibition includes the photographic portraits of distinguished subjects such as James Joyce and W.B. Yeats captured by photographers who were equally distinguished.

The dynamism and stylistic variety of the 20th century is also well documented in the display. A great many photographs span the decades and reflect the flexibility of the camera portrait and its ability to make a variety of visual and poetic statements. Paintings and sketches that range from Ben Shahn to Andy Warhol offer subjects from Sacco and Vanzetti to a larger-than-life Marilyn Monroe.

A Senior Thesis Project. The exhibition is a senior thesis project created by five students. The five bound theses that function as catalogues are available to the viewer and provide some help in the form of background information.

As in many other museum shows, the posted information that would make the collection a truly rich viewing experience is not to be found, and the viewer is on his own. This is, for most, a regrettable experience, since even the best of collections requires some supporting information in order to approach it effectively and enjoy it fully.

A small collection of etchings and lithographs, presented in conjunction with an art history course offers an array of English and French landscapes of the 19th century. Despite the formality of structure that characterized 19th century landscape art, there is a great deal of subtle variation to be found.

Prints by Corot, Whistler, Daubigny, Turner and many of their contemporaries provide the viewer with a variety of linear and tonal approaches. The fluid line of Corot contrasts with the harder, more formal construction of Daubigny and again with the delicacy and subtleties to be found in Whistler etchings. Lacy trees in one print become more mechanical in another. Simply rendered lakes and rivers become carefully worked tonal passages. Similarities and differences in style and technique combined with genuinely pleasing subjects result in an interesting viewing situation.

immediate and personal form of portraiture can be found in the Avery Chenoweth series, "Reunions," at Gallery 100. Chenoweth, a Princeton alumnus, has created a collection of acrylic paintings in a representational mode depicting the Princeton University reunion.

They range from what might be called the Princeton scene, landscapes with figures wearing the familiar orange and black, captured at Palmer Square, various campus locations and at the lake, to complex figurative works. These are traditional works rendered in an intense palette. More exciting are the ones that contain faces, many of them recognizable, that convey the crush and the clamor of the Princeton reunion.

Chenoweth is a portrait artist and the collection includes many of his more formal works. They are well painted studies that appear to have captured their subjects with all of the technical amenities of the competent portrait.

SUMMER CLASSES SET

By Art Association. The Princeton Art Association has put together a schedule of 33 classes for the summer months, of which several should fit in with any vacation plans.

Young people's four week courses during June include drawing and painting with Laurence Greenberg on Saturday mornings, "Adventures in Creativity" with Eva Kaplan on Monday afternoons; silk screen with Judy Langille Tuesday afternoons, and drawing and painting with Amy Kassiola Thursday afternoons.

An eight week program will begin July 11 and will offer Ren Segal's drawing and painting classes on Tuesday morning and her "media workshop" Thursday mornings. Ms. Kassiola will conduct an outdoor painting class Wednesday mornings. Should family vacation plans conflict, children may be registered for only four weeks.

Adults and high school students planning to be away in July and August can choose from seven four-week courses to be given in June. Hughie Lee-Smith's painting workshop will meet Monday evenings, Vincent Ceglia will conduct a watercolor class twice a week on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, sometimes out of doors, and Pamela Carvel will teach "Techniques of Chinese Watercolor" on Tuesday afternoons.

Bunny Neuman's "Introduction to Watercolor" for seniors will meet Wednesday afternoons, and her painting in oils and acrylics for seniors on Friday afternoons. John Carbone's Thursday evening sculpture class will deal with basic principles of three-dimensional design. Experienced painting students can continue their studies Friday mornings in Frederic Scudder's oil and acrylic painting class.

Beginning June 4, a six week course in drawing and painting outdoors will be conducted by Elizabeth Ruggles. This class is limited to students with some previous experience and will meet Sunday afternoons. Arrangements may be made to take either four or eight weeks of Elizabeth Monath's "Collographic Printmaking" on Tuesday mornings. Mr. Scudder's late Wednesday afternoon class in fundamentals of drawing or his Wednesday evening class in basic painting.

Other eight week courses are Howard Nathenson's oil and acrylic painting class in morning and afternoon sessions on Mondays in which students may paint for morning only or continue into the afternoon; Hughie Lee-Smith's still-life painting class on Wednesday mornings or Elizabeth Ruggles' Thursday afternoon drawing class.

Landscape painting will be taught four Fridays in July by Mr. Scudder in a four hour class, starting at 10 a.m., for advanced and intermediate students. The class will meet at selected sites in the Princeton area. Life workshops, with no instructors, will continue through the summer on Tuesday evenings and Sunday mornings.

The summer class bulletin, listing all classes and fees, is available from the Art Association, Rosedale Road. For further information and registration call 921-9173 or 921-9177.

Princeton Hockey Team Looks to Next Season Without a New Goalie to Replace Two Seniors

What does a football team do without a quarterback?

How can a baseball team win if it lacks a capable pitcher?

What sort of season can a hockey team expect to have if not a single player on its roster has ever played goalie before?

To Jim Higgins, Princeton's highly - knowledgeable hockey coach, the first two questions are academic -- the kind that he might encounter in the sports pages or discuss sympathetically with an associate confronted with such a problem. But the last one is Jim Higgins' problem -- one that may cause him a few sleepless nights between now and the start of practice in the fall, and will almost certainly continue to plague him right through the winter season.

When the Boston University alumnus came here from Colgate a year ago, a look at the roster they handed him showed two goalies -- both seniors. One was Fred Cherne, who eventually improved so steadily during the Tigers' upward surge that he won second All - Ivy honors in a league pretty well stacked with good goalies. The other was Dave Ramsay, who played his first varsity games when Cherne was temporarily out of action, and gave a good account of himself despite his total lack of varsity playing time.

When Higgins and his assistant, former Tiger captain Brad Richards, began the difficult, drawn - out recruiting chase for the Class of 1982, they did their best to assure arrival on campus next September of one or more goalies. When the list of those admitted by the University was posted on April 15, five potential future Princeton undergraduates listed among their extra - curricular activities the fact that they had protected the cage in their school's hockey rink.

Jim Higgins

Old Rink a Possible Factor. When May 1, the original deadline for acceptances by incoming freshmen had passed, not one of the five had chosen Princeton, and by May 12, the extended deadline set for those requesting financial aid, the story was the same. Of the five, one went to Notre Dame on an athletic scholarship; two chose Harvard, one Dartmouth and one the Air Force Academy. The two Ivy League colleges both have rinks built within the last three years, whereas Baker is now in the second half of its first century.

Chances of a player with past experience in the goal matriculating at Princeton next fall are now infinitesimal, Higgins reports. Among the 2,200 men in the three classes which will return to the campus, a few have played club hockey, but the jayvee program has been allowed to fall by the wayside since freshmen became eligible to play at the varsity level.

To go back to square one -- the question of whether football needs a quarterback, baseball a pitcher, or hockey a goalie more desperately. The answer on all counts is hockey, because while it is entirely possible to accumulate a squad of skaters not one of whom has ever donned a goalie's pads from Pee-Wee years to college, every ball player has thrown by nature of the sport, and most backs have at one time or another tossed a football to which they can tie a pretty good spiral. Baseball lore is full of stories about hard - throwing fielders who have become successful pitchers -- Princeton had one not long ago in Ray Huard, who came up as a third baseman capable of throwing bullets to first base. Football has its passing halfbacks -- the guy at quarterback is just better than they are.

This spring, six months away from his first game, Higgins doesn't know what his answer will be. "It's a tough problem," he says with the air of resignation of a man who is aware that the final decisions were beyond his control. "We expect to have a team that, at all other positions, can play with anybody on our schedule, but if a shot from around the blue line goes in in a tight game, it can take the heart right out of you."

Picture Bright Elsewhere. At positions other than goalie, Higgins is satisfied that Princeton will have fairly good ability among the incoming freshmen. "We did pretty well in numbers," he says. "We'll have to wait to see who can fit best into the system we teach." The defense, which made good progress during the latter half of a season climaxed by victories over Harvard and Cornell, may be further bolstered by the arrival of one or two key players.

Long - time participants and observers of the sport agree that even with a full season's experience, a brand new goalie will still be learning painfully at the end of a long winter. At least two will have to be trained to protect against injury, and the candidates will obviously be sophomores or freshmen so that dividends from their travail can be reaped in future seasons.

Casciola Quits Football, Joins Bank

Does serving as football coach at Princeton prepare one for a career in the banking industry? Jake McCandless and Bob Casciola are living proof that it does.

Five years ago, after resigning precipitously as coach after four years of guiding the Tigers, McCandless joined Manufacturers Hanover. Last fall, Bob Casciola's tenure as his successor was terminated and now he has joined First National State Bank of New Jersey.

Casciola's work at the outset will involve public relations duties on behalf of the bank while learning various other aspects of the industry. He is understood to have considered a variety of offers to continue coaching football (including one at Cornell with his old boss, Bob Blackman, with whom he served at Dartmouth) but has now moved out of the field he chose when he graduated from Princeton two decades ago.

TURNER IS THIRD
In Long Jump. In the Central Jersey Group 2 NJSIAA state sectional track meet held Saturday at North Brunswick, the best Princeton High School could do was a third in the long jump by Barry Turner, who leaped 20-8½. The Little Tigers finished with five team points, far back of winner Asbury Park which had 75½.

Hopewell Valley High captured two firsts in finishing second with 26½. Carl Mitchell won the high jump with a leap of 6-0 on the basis of fewer misses and Newt Stewart jumped 20-10 to win the long jump.

Andy Logan of PHS was fifth in the high hurdles in 16.1

while teammate Bernie Chen was a step behind in sixth place. He was timed in 16.2. Rob Wyland finished fifth in the 440 in 53.4.

TOURNAMENT WON
At Springdale. Steve Kahn and Gerry Barnett won the annual Member - Guest Tournament held Memorial Day weekend at Springdale Golf Club. Some 50 teams of twosomes, each using full handicaps and competing under the Stableford System, were awarded one point for each bogey, two for a par and three for a birdie.

Kahn and Griffiths totalled 87 points. Finishing second with 85 were Kemp Roll and Jack Murray.

The prize for the longest drive, measured on the seventh hole, went each day to Jack Leslie. Nearest to the pin on the 128 - yard 15th on Saturday was Jim Love, with Jack Childress placing first in that event Sunday.

PHS Nine Loses in Tournament In Dramatic Extra-Inning Game

A Princeton High School baseball team, playing at the top of its ability, came within one out Friday of advancing to the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 2 championship game with South Brunswick.

But it was not to be. In a dramatic game, described by PHS coach Jim O'Neill, "...as the finest high school game I've ever been involved in," top ranked Shore Regional (17-3) edged PHS, 5-4, in extra innings. "It was within our grasp two times," said O'Neill. "The kids really peaked; no one could ask for anything more."

PHS, ranked fifth, had eliminated Metuchen, 4-2, earlier in the week to advance to the semi-finals, while Shore Regional had defeated ninth-ranked Asbury Park. South Brunswick, seeded second, defeated South River in the other semi-final matchup.

The Little Tigers, who had won nine of their last 11 starts before the loss to Shore Regional, will end their season with back-to-back games with Hopewell Valley Thursday and West Windsor Friday. Both are Colonial Valley Conference contests. Notre Dame last week clinched the CVS championship.

Heights of Emotion. From the top of the eighth to the last out in the inning were "the heights of emotion for me," commented O'Neill later. "I was speechless, I couldn't express myself. It was incredible."

It began with a PHS bang. Co-captain Dave Miller smacked Buddy Burns' first pitch deep over the left field wall to put PHS back in the lead it had held for the first five innings.

Now it was up to PHS Al Kandell, who had pitched no-hit ball through the first five innings. Along the way, Kandell had been saved by a bases-loaded double play by shortstop Jon Miller and second baseman Dave Reed in the third, and a diving stop by first baseman Tommy Breithaupt, which prevented a run from scoring in the fifth.

Andy Petrone started the eighth for the shore team by singling to deep short, advancing to third on a sacrifice and groundout. Now PHS was one out away. But Kandell, who had thrown 137 pitches, some 25 more than O'Neill wants, yielded a game-tying single to Bob Cosentino.

O'Neill called on Keith Phox, who had pitched PHS to its win over Metuchen three days earlier. Phox walked the first batter he faced. Then came the second of two close calls that O'Neill stated could have gone either way. In each instance, if the call had been in Princeton's favor it would have won the game.

Ninth batter Mickey Bell grounded to Miller at short. He tossed to Reed at second for the game-ending put out but, no. The field umpire ruled the throw had pulled Reed off the bag. Instead of the game being over, the bases were full. Phox walked the next batter to force in the winning run.

The other call against PHS came in the sixth when Shore Regional scored three runs to tie. PHS had a relay into third that O'Neill reported was "right on the money. In my opinion, the runner slid into the tag." Had the umpire seen it as O'Neill did, the Little Tigers would have been out of the inning with a 3-2 lead.

Everybody Cheering. "Everybody on the team, from the scorekeepers on down, were in the game mentally and physically,"

STANDOUT YEAR: Strong-armed shortstop Jon Miller has had a fine year as the leadoff batter for the PHS baseball team. A solid hitter, Miller has also seen action as a relief pitcher.

claimed O'Neill. "The whole team was cheering and rooting."

Catcher Jamie Robertson, he said, "called the best game of his high school career. Kandell was magnificent, at the top of his game. He was tremendous in defeat. He did a great, great job."

O'Neill was also gracious in defeat. "You have to give them credit," he said of Shore Regional. "They have a fine hitting team. We may have been one out away from winning it but they were one out from being eliminated and they fought back."

PHS had scored one run in its favorite inning, the first, on a walk to leadoff batter Jon Miller, a passed ball and Dave Miller's single. In the third, PHS loaded the bases when Phox and Dave Miller walked and an error followed on Kandell's grounder.

Robertson's sacrifice fly drove in Phox and Reed's line single to left sent Miller home with Princeton's third run.

Shore Regional broke through in the sixth. The victors had a leadoff double, single and a long shot by Burns that sailed over Dave Miller's head in left and missed clearing the fence by two inches.

The loss was Kandell's second against three wins. He entered the game batting .360 but was held to no hits in four at bats.

Phox Has 3-Hitter. In the Metuchen win, Phox limited the losers to three hits and did not allow a run until the final inning.

PHS scored all it needed in the first again when it chased three runs across. Jon Miller, who has done an outstanding job this year reaching base as the leadoff hitter, started it for PHS with a single. Phox followed with another single and both later scored on Kandell's single to right.

With two down, John Keaney's double, the only extra base blow of the game, scored Kandell. PHS added an unearned run in the third when it capitalized on a pair of Metuchen errors.

In the bottom of the seventh, Metuchen loaded the bases on an error, walk and Rich Paull's single, after two were down.

Robertson's attempted pickoff of Paull at first sailed over Breithaupt's head, allowing two runs to score and sending Paull to third. Phox worked out of the jam, however, by getting DH Rich Gazda to ground out to first.

Jon Miller, Kandell, Phox and Robertson each had two hits for PHS.

14 Seniors (Seven of Them Starters) Leaving Gaps Tigers Must Fill in Football Next Fall

Fourteen members of the Class of 1978 will graduate from Princeton Tuesday, half of their number leaving gaps as starters on last fall's football team which Coach Frank Navarro must fill during pre-season practice in September.

The offensive unit is hardest hit in the backfield, where the ranking quarterback for two years and one of the top running backs in Princeton history both have completed their careers. On defense, the principal loss is caused by the departure of a pair of two-year lettermen, ends Tim Earley and Bill Mitchell.

Overall, Navarro is fortunate, because the outgoing seniors do not represent either quality or quantity to a normal degree. In fact, the only player whose ability will in all likelihood not be matched by his replacement is Bobby Isom, the co-captain (with the injured Larry Lotz), whose performance as a running back is now listed well toward the top of the Princeton record book.

With 918 yards rushing last fall, Isom is now fifth in one-season totals, while his 1,565 yards overall rank him seventh on a career basis. He is no. 1 in carries for a season (220), a mark for which the foundation was the astonishing 44 times he carried the ball in the 20-to-7 upset of Harvard.

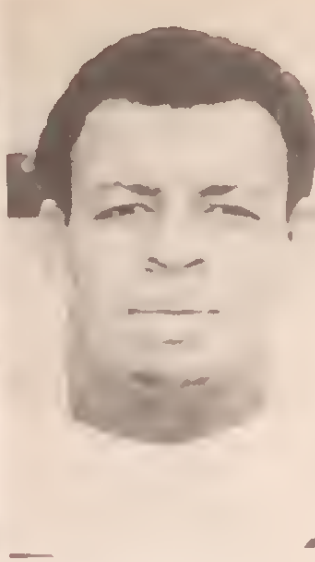

Offense to Be Rebuilt. Navarro's problem is that with the graduation of Isom, and of quarterback Kirby Lockhart, who started all but two games of his last 18 on the varsity, his experienced personnel in the backfield is vanishing over the horizon. The difficulty Navarro faces is underscored by the fact that, good as Isom was, the Princeton offense last year was markedly sub-par. In nine games, it averaged only 15.2 points and in four of them, it managed only a lone touchdown apiece.

Lockhart completed better than 50 percent of his passes but only three were for touchdowns and he rarely managed to make the big play. If the Tigers can't find a replacement who can do better, their problems next fall may largely go unsolved.

In addition to this pair, the offense will lose a good tight end in Frank Vuono and a highly versatile performer in Glenn Robinson. Vuono earned letters in both his junior and senior years, are blocked well but was rarely a target of Lockhart's, catching only three passes all season. Robinson began as the wide receiver, switched to slot back when injuries were a problem there, went back to wide receiver and then completed his career as slot back. He caught 16 passes worth 12 yards per reception.

Defensive Losses Light. Earley and Mitchell saw steady action from their freshmen years through graduation as defensive ends and experience will be lacking at these key positions until their replacements can gain experience. The problem will be mitigated by the fact that all three of the interior linemen, all well regarded, will be back.

In addition to this pair, only Dave Powers, the safety, was a starter at the end of the season who will graduate. Larry Lutz, a fine cornerback, is also a member of the Class of 1978, but his career was cut short by injury in the Brown game in early October, so in actuality there were only three seniors in the defensive lineup during the latter half of the season.

Only one other player on offense will graduate. Paul Zoubek, a kicking specialist little used in a reserve capacity for placements, has completed his career.

On defense, other seniors who saw varying degrees of action are Mike Pajerski, an end; Ed Spatz, a tackle; middle guards Jerry Fitzgibbons and Matt Gourlay; and punter Jerry Howe, who is listed on the defensive unit even though the Tigers were always in possession of the ball when he was in the game. He was rarely used.

The Game Plan. Thirty-seven lettermen, 21 on offense, junior and senior years, are scheduled to return. Hopes are that the defense, in large degree untouched by graduation and bolstered by a number of capable reserves, can buy time for the players charged with moving the ball until they can learn Navarro's attack.

"Princeton this fall will run from the veer," he said on taking over here, "and will play with two wide-nuts." If he achieves his goal, the Tiger offense will have more basic flare than has been seen in Palmer Stadium in the current decade.

Navarro will insist on versatility. "The backs must be able to catch the ball, and the quarterback will have to run as well as throw."

"Some games, we could throw 30 to 35 times because the defense is set to stop our run. The next time out, we might throw just 15 times because the defense is set to stop our passing."

Like the man says, a new broom sweeps clean, and Frank Navarro is taking over with a whole wheelbarrow full of ideas. If he can come through the first third of the schedule—the first two games away and on unfamiliar artificial turf—with some segment of success, Princeton football may be on the way to achieving that long-sought respectability.

WIN BIG, LOSE BIG

PHS Stickmen Split. Will the Princeton High School lacrosse team please stand up. The Little Tigers put on a performance last week. They were trounced, 12-5, by Columbia to be eliminated in the first round of the Coaches Tournament, but then came back, two days later, to humiliate Hunterdon Central, 15-0, in the first round of play of the NJSIAA state tournament.

The Little Tigers were scheduled to oppose top-seeded and defending state champion Montclair in the next round. Eight teams were picked for the state tournament competition.

Princeton received the best performance ever from Tom Lion, a junior attackman, who scored six goals and one assist in the rout of Hunterdon. "We didn't play that well either at the beginning but for some reason Hunterdon was flat," said PHS coach Bill Cirullo. "They've had a tough time the last part of the season; they're not the same team."

Hunterdon had entered the contest with a 9-5 record, one of the losses an 11-4 setback at the hands of PHS earlier in the season. PHS won its ninth against three losses.

PHS also got a pair of goals each from Doug Firstenberg, who added three assists; Pierri Muri, Bobby Bobby Campbell, and Jon Diamond. Bo Rice scored a single goal.

In the end, PHS was fighting as hard as it had at any time during the game to preserve its shutout for the reserve goalie, sophomore Mark Miller, who took over in the final period.

Completely Outplayed. "We just got killed. They completely outplayed us; I don't know what to attribute it to," said a stunned Cirullo after the collapse against Columbia.

The outcome was wholly unexpected. "We were prepared for them, we scouted them, we were ready for anything. They just had the talent to beat us," Cirullo continued.

PHS and the once-beaten Columbia (its only setback is a 1-8 loss to Montclair) had waged a furious battle earlier in the season before PHS succumbed, 13-11. "I figured we had improved enough—long with them—to make it a good game," said Cirullo. The final score, he said, could have been worse.

Columbia led 7-0 at the half. After PHS had outscored the victors 2-1 in the third period, Columbia quickly answered with three goals in the final period to nail down the win.

HE ROLLS A 7: Junior Tommy Lion wasn't shooting craps, but he had a hot hand against Hunterdon Central last week, scoring six goals and an assist for seven points in Princeton High's 15-0 triumph.

All Cirullo could point to in explanation were some sorry statistics. PHS did not win any of the first nine faceoffs "and we usually get our share." Of the groundballs in the first half, Columbia scooped up 33, PHS only 11. "We never had the ball," Cirullo commented.

Johnny Morris led PHS with a pair of goals. Finalists in the Coaches Tournament were Montclair and Columbia.

WARDLAW BEATS PDS

In State Finals. It has been a while since Princeton Day reached the finals of a State Prep tournament and didn't come out a winner. Over the past few years, the Panthers have won four consecutive basketball titles, two in soccer, three in lacrosse and one in baseball last year.

This spring coach Tom DeVito had hoped to make it two in a row, and he darn near succeeded with a patchwork team, that always seemed to be nursing a variety of injuries. The Blue and White made it into the post-season tournament and got by two opponents without too much difficulty, and when Wardlaw knocked off Pennington in the semi-finals, the Panthers' chances seemed even better.

In last Tuesday's final on Princeton University's Strubing Field, DeVito went with his ace Mike Walters, who had come through so often for PDS in the clutch, not only in baseball, but soccer and basketball as well.

Walters and Wardlaw

ACCOMPLICE: Jon Diamond, a senior attackman, played a role in Princeton High's 15-0 massacre of Hunterdon Central last week. He scored two goals and an assist.

hurler, Tom Lankey, dueling through three scoreless innings without giving up a run. But then things began to come unglued for the PDS nine. A soft liner dropped by shortstop Jeff Freda led to Wardlaw's first run in the fourth.

PDS managed to get that back on a double by Jamie Bartolomie and a single by Tony Dell in the top of the fifth, but it never could manage another run against Lankey who gave up only one other hit.

Meanwhile, in the bottom of the fifth, the already shaky PDS defense collapsed, permitting three runs to score. That was the ball game, Wardlaw winning 4-1.

Princeton Day was charged with six errors overall, and with Lankey keeping the hitters in check, that is a tough thing to overcome.

Last Wednesday's downpour forced the cancellation of the Trenton High contest, and Friday's game with Peddie was also cancelled, leaving the Panthers with a 9-7 mark.

close," said Hun baseball coach Bill McQuade last week. Games with Solebury and Peddie were both rained out last week and neither will be rescheduled. Hun has not played since it was eliminated in the semi-final round of the Prep School Class A state championship by Newark Academy. It was scheduled to end its season this week in a final game with Lawrenceville.

CLOSE RACE EXPECTED

In Women's Tennis. The Women's Spring Tennis League held at the Community Park courts has reached the end of its first round of play. The Beetles have moved into first place, with the Gnats trailing by seven points, after moving up from third to second place to give the Beetles a contender for the second and final round of play.

Beetles team members Dorothy Katz, Mellon Johnson, Edie Postel, Jan Noonan, Dorothy Kamm, Connie Tevebaugh, Tracy Kenny, Barbara Faughnan, Jane Bandurski and Pat Hillier have led the other five teams by winning 13 of their first 20 matches. The second round begins this week and the season will end June 22, with play-offs and awards.

PHS NET TEAM UPSET

In Central Jersey Semis. A funny thing happened to the Princeton High School tennis team last week on its annual march to the Central Jersey Group 2 state championship; it was upset last week, 3-2, by Bernardsville in Jadwin gymnasium.

Originally set for the Somerset Community College courts, the match was forced by rain into Jadwin, where all three of Princeton's singles players - shockingly - were defeated: Scott Clark, Allen Aronovic and Seth Thaler.

Both Princeton doubles teams of Peter Wilson and Abe Witonsky and Roger Dinella and Larry Edelman won.

PHS ended its season Thursday with a 5-0 victory over West Windsor. The Little Tigers, the Group 2 state champions last year, ended with a 17-2 mark.

SEASON UNDER WAY

In Women's Softball. The Princeton Women's Softball League opened its season last week with Koffee Kup, the 1977 league and playoff champions, extending last season's 15 straight victories with an 11-7 decision over a tough Zephyrs team. Koffee Kup took an early 7-0 lead after two innings, and then hung tough to stave off the Zephyrs.

Conte's Bar, last team to give Koffee Kup a loss, slugged Kingston Wine & Liquors, 20-3. Sandy Stratton led Conte's with two singles and two doubles.

CHALLENGERS: Members of the Gnats team in the Women's Spring Tennis League hope to catch the first-place Beetles in the standings. From left, they are Chantal Callan, Connie Haynes, Janet Williams, Noko Manabe and Rosemary Flanagan.

Brenner Brothers scored seven runs in the last inning but could not overcome a big Ivy Inn lead and lost, 17-10. Margaret Arcaro and Maureen Merrigan for Ivy, and Perry Foster-Pegg for Brenner Brothers each drove in three runs.

Sweet Jersey Corn unleashed 31 hits to thump undermanned Larry's Sunoco, 32-3. Dee Pearce and Dale Mezzacappa did the big gunning for the winners.

Triple-A Taxi, behind Terry Halpin's single and triple, good for five runs, coasted to a 14-2 win over Community Liquors. Betty James was the winning hurler.

Play resumes this Wednesday at 6:15 at Community Park and Marquand Park. Starting next week, all games will be played Monday and Wednesday nights on the Hun School fields, Marquand Park, Valley Road School and Grover Park.

MEN'S GOLF SCHEDULED

At Mountain View. The annual Men's Golf Tournament, sponsored by the Mercer County Park Commission, will be held on Wednesday, June 7, at the Mountain View Golf Club, West Trenton. Starting time is from 8 to 1; rain date is June 14.

All residents of Mercer County 18 through 59 are eligible. Registration deadline is dusk on Monday, June 5. Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

SUMMER LESSONS SET

June 12 in Tennis. The Princeton Community Tennis Program will offer summer lessons for juniors and adults of all ability levels beginning, June 12.

Adult classes will be held during the day and in the evening with students meeting twice a week for hour and a half. Adults can enroll in beginner, advanced beginner, intermediate or advanced classes. This year, daytime adult classes will have a low intermediate, intermediate and advanced intermediate category to enable even more homogeneous groupings.

Juniors beginning with the third through 12th grade may enroll in a wide range of classes. Classes are also an hour and a half but meet three times a week. Beginner through advanced levels are available. Also offered is a special five day-a-week junior training program which provides both instruction and competitive play.

Registration for both juniors and adults is available on a weekly basis. However, a special seven week rate is offered for those who wish to pre-register. Inquire at the Tennis Office, 71 University Place or call 924-4343 for details.
